Greetings from the Alumni Board

Hello Alumni,

Almost half of the year has already passed, and summer holidays are just around the corner! Greetings from Greece, where I spent half of May and got a little head start on summer.

During the past months, we organized a successful Alumni Wappubooli in collaboration with Enginery. From the organizers' perspective, everything went smoothly, and we also received positive feedback from participants. On May Day, we also served "skumppaa ja munkkeja" (sparkling wine and doughnuts) at Ratinanranta together with the Manager's alumni board, which was very nice as well. We also gained a new addition to our alumni board, as Tuuli Hämäläinen decided to join us!

During the summer, there are less organized Alumni events, but Alumni are warmly welcome to Indecs' Summer Party in July. For the autumn, we are planning a bigger alumni event in Tampere, including an opportunity to see the newly renovated Teekkarisauna. I highly recommend marking the date in your calendar already. You'll find more information about all of these later in this alumni newsletter.

Now, I wish you all a relaxing summer and plenty of time for the things you enjoy!

Elviira Saarelma
Chair of the Alummi Board 2026

News from the Guild

Dear alumni,

Last time I wrote to you, there was quite a lot of excitement in the air regarding our 40th annual gala. Looking back, it already feels like a decade ago! A formal thank you once again to everyone who attended the celebration, as well as those who followed along from home. I guess Indecs 50 is up next then.

This spring, we also concluded our first full year of investing in the financial markets and hopefully, we can expect some better returns there than in the real estate business. Still, the dream of owning our own space lives strong among our members, and perhaps the markets will lay the foundation for those dreams. On top of these milestones, our Spring General Assembly sparked some great discussions about the future direction of the Mayhem event, meaning a bigger scale student event. We've found a promising path to explore, but more on that in the coming years.

Now, we are heading into the summer break. Of course, for most of us, "break" means work, which is definitely a great thing. It has been both wonderful and relieving seeing my peers land intern and traineeships in times where on some fields it has been more of an exception than a rule.

We are also pushing forward with our action plan for the year and developing alumni relations was part of it. While the heavy lifting is mostly on our hands, we hope this to be a two-way street. Feel free to contact Otto or me if you have any ideas on how the guild could better serve you. We are eager to try out new concepts that bring us together and, more importantly, activate the valuable network that we students will all join someday. I've also heard that you can expect some new things dropping during the summer and later this autumn.

News from the Guild

Speaking of new ideas, we actually have a major one brewing. We've been inspired by what our friends over in Otaniemi are doing, where a group of students completes tailored projects for companies to fund a longer trip abroad. The goal is a win-win situation: deliver high-quality results for the companies, gain real professional experience for the students, and build meaningful corporate connections, all while making an unforgettable journey possible. The whole concept is still in its infancy and we are figuring out the best way to kick it off. If you have any insights on running a project like this, or if your company might be interested in a cooperation, please reach out to me or our Corporate Relations Responsible, Markus, at yritysvastaava@indecs.fi.

That's about it for my scattered thoughts this time around. I hope you all have a great summer, and hopefully, we'll see many of you in July at our renewed Kesätappo event here in Tampere, or later in the autumn! ;)

Best regards,
Jesse Maijanen, Chair of the board

WHEN: 11.7. Klo 14 ->

Word from the Alumni officer

Hello Alumni!

Summer is here and hopefully everyone has time to relax for a moment, even if just on weekends. Although, the FIFA World Cup might cause some loss of sleep during the most exicting games. Football is, after all, culture, strategy and business all in the same game. What's there not to like! And for those not so fond of watching people running after a ball, summer is luckily full of relaxing activities!

Best regards,
Otto Tikkala

News from the IEM unit

Greetings from the IEM Unit, Dear Students and Alumni

Dear alumni and friends of the IEM unit,

I hope this message finds you well and that the year has started on a positive note in your professional and personal lives. As we gradually move towards the summer season, it is a good moment to take a step back and reflect on what has been happening at the IEM unit in Tampere.
One of the most exciting developments during the past academic year has been the launch of teaching in industrial sales. Tuukka Ahoniemi developed and launched the courses TUTA.326 Myynnin johtaminen and TUTA.224 Teollinen myynti, which both were highly praised by our students and led to Tuukka being granted the teacher of the year award by Indecs.

More broadly, the feedback from our courses has been very positive this year. Last week, we celebrated the expertise and dedication of our teachers with coffee and cake and reviewed course feedback from this academic year. A total of 12 courses received feedback higher than 4.6 (on a scale of 1-5) and the vast majority of courses were rated higher than 4. We look forward to continuing the development of our teaching expertise and offerings in the next academic year.

On the research and personnel side, the last year has been a positive one. Over the past year, two new postdoctoral researchers, Vesa Tiitola and Jenni Kaipainen have joined us, bringing fresh ideas and momentum to our research activities. Jenni made a comeback from Switzerland to the more attractive climate we have at Tampere. At the same time, two tenure-track recruitments, one in industrial sales and one in safety management, are currently approaching their final stages. These recruitments are strategically important for us and will further support both our teaching and research profile in the coming years.

Another theme that has progressed positively is the sense of community within the unit. After the quieter years during the pandemic, it has been wonderful to see how everyday interaction, collaboration and shared activities are again gradually becoming a natural part of our working life. As part of this, we recently organized unit community days at Himos. These days provided an excellent setting for both informal interaction and deeper discussions on our future directions. Good discussions took place at dinner and also later in the hot tubs.

Looking ahead, we also want to continue strengthening our connection with our alumni. In this regard, we are going to to actively participate in the university's Alumni Day in Nov 11. We hope to see many of you there and to find new ways of deepening collaboration between the unit and our alumni community.

I hope that you have an amazing summer!
Best regards,
Tuomas

Open call for speakers to career seminar for Indecs 13.11.

Alumni, Indecs and Man@ger are creating career related seminar event for autumn 2026!

We are now looking for speakers to share their stories, tips and experiences from their careers to guide the new generation forward. The goal is to show students how career paths can change during the years and give advices that you might have valued during your studies before moving to the working life.

If you are interested contact us at indecs-alumni@lists.tuni.fi and we can discuss options further!
